

From: support@theplanet.com
Sent: 17 February 2004 09:28
To: gearslutz@megleechin.com
Subject: Welcome to The Planet!

Categories: Work Hobby Period, Servermatrix, Tech

Welcome to The Planet!
Your server is online and available at the following:

Server Name: gearslutz.com
Server IP: 69.93.216.82
Netmask: 255.255.255.248
Gateway: 69.93.216.81
Secondary IPs: 69.93.216.83 - 86

OpenSSH, Apache (not configured), Perl, mod_perl and mod_ssl were installed. The login username is [REDACTED] with a password of [REDACTED] both without the quotation marks, case sensitive.

If you need nameservers for this server, you can use the following:

ns2.theplanet.com 12.96.160.115
ns1.theplanet.com 216.234.234.30

* Attention RedHat Enterprise customers:

Your server is configured to apply all updates from RedHat Enterprise Network automatically, except for Kernel upgrades. If you wish to allow automatic kernel upgrades:

Run the command (as root): up2date --configure
Remove the "*"kernel" entry from the "Package skip list".
Save your configuration settings.

If you wish to disallow certain packages from being updated, or disallow all updates entirely:

Run the command (as root): up2date --configure
Add the packages that you do not want updated (or all packages) to the "Package skip list".
Save your configuration settings.

If you set firewall or IPTable rules on your server, please be sure to have them configured to allow inbound and outbound traffic on all ports (TCP & UDP 1-65535) from 12.96.160/24 (12.96.160.*). If access is blocked by your server or firewall, we will not be able to monitor your server to report downtime or provide emergency support as needed. More details are available in Orbit under the Services tab.

If there's anything else that we can do to be of assistance, please don't hesitate to contact us. The most comprehensive method to do this would be via our support website. Our new customer interaction site is accessible through links on our website or directly at <https://orbit.theplanet.com/>. There you will find links to contact us